

Acknowledgements

It would be a Herculean task to list all of those to whom the editors owe some debt of gratitude in the publication of this book. As would be noted, the make-up of the book consists of many ideas that culminated in chapters drawn from many authors, academics, scholars and researchers from various universities across the continent. The editors would like to acknowledge the authors for their various contributions to the book and commitment that ensured the successful publication of the book. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to our editorial team and reviewers, for providing timely feedback to authors and consequently enhanced the quality of the chapters.

We are indeed grateful to our publishers, University of KwaZulu-Natal, and in particular, Prof Johannes Smit, who took his time to arrange some virtual sessions with us and also attend to our numerous queries both verbally and in writing in some cases.

We definitely are indebted to our families for their understanding and support despite the fact that they could not enjoy all our attention during the period of working on this time-consuming project. We appreciate you families! Finally, we owe our profound appreciation to the Almighty God, for the strength, grace and mercy generously supplied that, once again, guarantee the success of yet another book.
