

Contributors

Nicolene Barkhuizen is an Associate Professor and Programme Manager of the Department of Industrial Psychology, North-West University, Mafikeng Campus. Nicolene is the leader of the programme in Talent Management, which forms part of the Optentia Research Unit of North-West University. Contact details: barkhuizenn@nwu.ac.za

Teresa Carmichael is an Associate Professor in Management Education at Wits Business School. Her interest in this area can be seen in her PhD, entitled Service-Learning in MBA degree programmes in South Africa and in her MM(HR), The Perceived Return on Investment of an MBA. Her career path has taken her from plant research in Zimbabwe to the pharmaceutical industry in South Africa and, later, her own HR Development consultancy before finally joining WBS. She has travelled widely in the course of her career, and has a number of publications in her areas of interest. Contact details: Terri.carmichael@wits.ac.za

Jennifer Croll has been a professional librarian for 40 years, working in research institutes, company libraries and university libraries, most recently as the Research / Corporate User Scheme Librarian at the Wits Business School. She has degrees in Arts, Library and Information Technology and Information Science. She also has a strong interest in marketing and public relations, and will soon complete her Masters of Management in the area of technology and information usage in South African corporates. Contact details: jennifer.croll@wits.ac.za

Lindiwe Dhlamini obtained her MBA from Wits Business School in 2011. She has worked variously in risk management, equity trading and as an intern at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, where she aided the Africa II Section in the Department of Field Support. She also assisted with the Millennium Development Goals Review Summit and was present when UN Women came into being. Lindiwe is currently working in the development space and intends to continue working for women's empowerment and gender equality. Contact details: Lindiwe.Dhlamini@gmail.com

Bongani Diako is a Senior Manager: Media Liaison at the South African Banking Risk Information Centre and Marketing and Communications Executive of Bank Note Watch South Africa. He holds a Masters of Business Administration from the University of North West, and is currently studying towards his PhD in Business Leadership at UNISA's School of Business Leadership. Contact details: bonganid@sabric.co.za

Petrusa du Toit obtained her PhD in Educational Psychology at the University of Pretoria. She is currently associate professor in Educational Psychology and Learner Support at the Potchefstroom Campus of the North-West University. With NRF funding she has established teachers' needs regarding the identification and support of barriers to learning in inclusive education, with the aim to develop an effective in-service training model by way of action research together with those teachers, to establish effective support systems in schools. She is author and co-author of papers in this field, and is supervisor to MEd and PhD students. She teaches at undergraduate as well as graduate levels. Contact details: Petrusa.DuToit@nwu.ac.za

Julia Ermakova is a registered Industrial Psychologist and an independent consultant. Her main area of specialisation includes Human Resource Management and People Development. Contact details: julia@artkz.net

Krishna Govender received his PhD in Services Marketing from the University of Cape Town and has published several articles in the same discipline. He has held various academic administration positions at several universities in SA and abroad. At the time of submission of this article, he was the Academic Leader: Research and Higher Degrees in the School of Management, IT and Governance at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. Contact details: govenderkr@ukzn.ac.za

Rembrandt Klopper is an interdisciplinary scholar publishing the results of research focusing on aspects of research methodology, informatics, communication science and cognitive science. He is a regular participant at international conferences on research methodology and informatics. In cognitive science he has written a number of papers on the central role of metaphor in human thinking. He (co-)supervises masters and doctoral students at several South African universities and is a special issues editor of the South African interdisciplinary scholarly journal, Alternation. Contact details: rklopper@gmail.com

Contributors

Faan Louw obtained his MA in Regional Science from the University of Philadelphia in the USA. He is currently Senior Lecturer in Economics at the North-West University, Mafikeng Campus in South Africa, and visiting Assistant Professor in Economics at the International Business School of Beijing Foreign Studies University in Beijing, China. He spent the majority of his career as economist for various South African Government Departments before taking up a life of teaching. He is the author and co-author of several articles and special reports on economic issues in the context of development. Contact details: faan.louw@nwu.ac.za

Sam Lubbe is a professor at North West University in the Department of Information Systems. He has a PhD from Wits and teaches SISP, SCM and other IS courses. He has published widely in scholarly journals, attended and delivered conference papers. He edited two textbooks in Information Systems, and has authored a third one. He specialises in supervising postgraduate students. Contact details: Sam.Lubbe@nwu.ac.za

Manoj Maharaj holds a PhD in Applied Mathematics from UKZN. His research interests are varied and include Strategic Information Management, ICT4D, Information Security, Information Warfare, amongst others. Manoj has supervised many PhD and Masters graduates in Information Systems. He is currently at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, teaching and conducting research in the School of Management, IT and Governance. Contact details: Maharajms@ukzn.ac.za

Brian McArthur obtained his MA in English in 1980 at the University of Natal, South Africa and an MBA in 2000 at the University of South Africa. He currently is an Associate Professor at the University of KwaZulu-Natal where he teaches Research Methodology in the discipline of Information Systems & Technology and serves as the Academic Leader: Research and Higher Degrees. He spent the first 15 years of his career in the educational sector in South Africa as an educator, subject adviser and curriculum adviser. He subsequently held a position as Senior Lecturer at the University of Natal. Contact details: McArthurb@ukzn.ac.za

Msizi Mkhize joined the South African Institute of Chartered Accountants (SAICA) in May 2000. Msizi is currently a Project Manager in the Transformation and Growth Unit where he manages all transformation and growth projects in the KwaZulu-Natal province. Prior to joining the SAICA he was the Head of Department (Commerce) at Zwelibanzi High School and a Mathematics and Accounting educator at Menzi High School in Umlazi. He has recently published a series of FET Accounting Study Guides. He holds a Bachelor of Commerce (Honours) from the University of South Africa, Bachelor of Commerce from the University of Zululand and Secondary Teacher's Diploma from Indumiso College of Education. He is currently completing his Masters in Commerce at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. Contact details: mkhizem4@ukzn.ac.za

Amanda Ngidi obtained her B.Com Honours in Information Systems and Technology in 2010 at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. She is currently a practitioner in the IT industry. Contact details: amandangidi@gmail.com

Théobard Ntukabumwe obtained his Masters in Accountancy in 2010 from the University of KwaZulu-Natal. He has a BAccSc from University of Rwanda. He is currently working as the head of the finance department for SP Aviation Ltd in Kigali, Rwanda. Contact details: theobardnt@yahoo.fr

Silvester Olupot is a PhD Student at the University of KwaZulu-Natal (UKZN) South Africa. He holds Master of Business Administration (MBA) from UKZN, a Post Graduate Diploma in Project Management from University of Nairobi-Kenya and Bachelor of Commerce (Accounting) from Makerere University- Uganda. His research interest is in the area of Innovation and commercialisation of projects arising from academic research. Contact details: Olupot@ukzn.ac.za

Izak Oosthuizen obtained his PhD in Education at the University of Pretoria. He specialised in Education Law as an interdisciplinary field of study in Education. He published more than 200 peer reviewed articles and chapters in national and international books and journals in the field of Educational Law and related Educational topics. In 2004 he obtained the senior research award from the South African Education Society for his contribution to research in Education Law. He is currently a research professor of the Faculty of Education on the Mafikeng campus of the North-West University. Contact details: Izak.Oosthuizen@nwu.ac.za

Contributors

Rubeshan Perumal is a medical research fellow at the Centre for the AIDS Programme of Research in South Africa and is also a medical doctor in the public health service. He is passionate about TB-HIV research and his ongoing work on promoting annual HIV surveillance at TB facilities, as well as the operational challenges in integrating TB and HIV services to optimize health outcomes. Other areas of interest include research methodology, human resources management, public management, health economics, infectious disease epidemiology and behavioural medicine. Contact details: rubeshanperumal@gmail.com

Sadhasivan Perumal obtained his Doctorate in Commerce in 1994 at the University of Durban-Westville, through research which focused on the role of Affirmative Action in achieving business excellence. He is currently based in the School of Management at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. He has 18 years of experience in the financial administration of the University and spent the past 14 years in academia lecturing in financial management, human resources, corporate governance, entrepreneurship and marketing management. He has previously occupied the roles of Head of School, Deputy Head of School and Dean's Assistant. He also serves on the Council for the Built Environment and the National Regulator for Compliance Specifications. His current research interests include managing diversity in the evolving socio-political climate of South Africa, workload equity amongst academics, and management education. Contact details: perumals@ukzn.ac.za

Shaun Ramroop obtained his PhD in Statistics in 2008 at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. He is currently a Senior Lecturer at the same University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. He is currently a Senior Lecturer at the same university where he teaches statistics at undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Before joining the university, he worked as a

Biometrician at the South African Sugar Experimentation Centre in Mount Edgecombe. He has focused on applying statistics and has published in statistical and non-statistical journals. Contact details: RamroopS@ukzn.ac.za

Lesley Stainbank CA(SA) obtained her DCom from the University of South Africa. She is a Professor of Financial Accounting in the School of Accounting, Economics and Finance at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. She teaches financial accounting mainly at the Masters level. She is a co-author of the textbook A Student's Guide to International Financial Reporting which is prescribed by seven universities in South Africa, at either the third year- or honours level. She serves on the editorial boards of the SA Journal of Accounting Research, Meditari Accountancy Research and the African Journal of Accounting, Economic, Finance and Banking Research and she is an Editorial Adviser to Accounting Education: An International Journal, representing the International Association for Accounting Education and Research. Contact details: stainbankl@ukzn.ac.za

Renier Steyn worked for 18 years as a psychologist in the public service and is presently a Professor at the University of South Africa where he teaches in the field of human resources management and leadership. He obtained a Ph.D. in Industrial and Personnel Psychology as well as a DLitt et Phil in Psychology. He is a registered research psychologist and was a post-doctoral research fellow at the Semel Institute for Neuroscience & Human Behavior - situated at the University of California (UCLA) - as well as a member of the UNISA International Fellowship Programme. Contact details: steynr@unisa.ac.za

Sonia Swanepoel is an Associate Professor and Executive Dean of the Faculty of Commerce and Administration, North-West University, Mafikeng Campus. Sonia is a registered Industrial Psychologist and also serves on the executive board of the South African Board for People Practices. Contact details: swanepoels@nwu.ac.za

Wilfred Isioma Ukpere obtained his Bachelor of Commerce (B.Com) and Master of Commerce (M.Com) from Punjabi University Patiala India. He further obtained a M.Com (Business Administration) from Jiwaji University

Contributors

Gwalior, India, and subsequently obtained his PhD from Cape Peninsula University of Technology, Cape Town where he is currently serving as a Head of Department: Entrepreneurship & Business Management. He has published widely and was a visiting academic to Punjabi University, India in 2009. He is an Editorial Advisory Board Member of the International Journal of Social Economics (Emerald Insight) and, a reviewer for many Journals. Contact details: wiukpere@uj.ac.za

Huibrecht Margaretha van der Poll obtained her M.Com degree in 2004 and her D.Com in 2007 at the University of Pretoria. She is currently an Associate Professor in the Department of Management Accounting at the University of South Africa where she supervises a number of MPhil and PhD students. Her current research interest is in the field of business sizing and performance metrics at the micro and the macro level of companies. She has published widely and has delivered many papers at different National and International Conferences. Contact details: vdpolhm@unisa.ac.za

John Andrew van der Poll obtained his PhD in Computer Science at the University of South Africa (Unisa) in 2000. He is currently a Professor in the School of Computing at Unisa where he teaches Formal Program Verification, Software Specification Techniques, IT Management and Research Methodologies. His research interests are in Formal Specification Techniques, Automated Reasoning and Combining formal and semi-formal specification techniques. He supervises MSc and PhD students in these areas and is involved in a project aimed at determining the impact of Formal Methods in industry. Contact details: vdpolja@unisa.ac.za

Ben-Piet Venter obtained his D.Tech in Marketing Management from the Cape Peninsula University of Technology in 2009 in South Africa. He is currently Associate Professor at the International Business School of Beijing Foreign Studies University in China where he teaches Marketing and International Marketing Strategy. He spent the first half of his career in the world of marketing as Senior Marketing Specialist before entering the world of academe. He subsequently held positions as Assistant Professor in Marketing in South Korea, and Associate Professor in Communication in North-West University in South Africa. He has published a number of papers and delivered several conference papers in the USA, South Africa, and China. Contact details: venter@bfsu.edu.cn