

Contributors

Fathima Ahmed is a lecturer at the School of Environmental Sciences at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. Her academic fields of research interest are coastal zone management, tourism and human geography. She has, over the past four years, published in the field of coastal management in several peer reviewed journals. She is a member of the following organizations: the South African Network for Coastal and Oceanographic Research (SANCOR), the International Association for Impact Assessment (IAIA), KwaZulu-Natal and the KwaZulu-Natal Provincial Coastal Committee (PCC). Contact details: ahmedf1@ukzn.ac.za

Zaakirah Bassa is a MSc student in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. Her honours research project focused on resident perceptions of the 2010 FIFA World Cup. Contact details: 205507736@ukzn.ac.za

Urmilla Bob (PhD) is an Associate Professor in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. She conducts research on urban and rural development, sustainable land use and natural resource management as well as socio-economic impacts of tourism (currently focusing on ecotourism and the 2010 FIFA World Cup). She has supervised several Masters and PhD students as well as published in these fields in both nationally and internationally recognised academic books and journals. Contact details: bobu@ukzn.ac.za

Doret Botha obtained her Masters Degree in Industrial Sociology at the North-West University and is currently enrolled for her PhD studies at the same University. The focus of her PhD thesis is Women in Mining and she is investigating relevant and burning gender issues in the South African Mining Sector. She is currently employed at the North-West University as a researcher at the African Centre for Disaster Studies, within the Research Focus Area: Social Transformation, and she is doing research on a number of projects. Ms Botha is also the assistant editor of Jamba: Journal of Disaster Risk Studies. Contact details: Doret.Botha@nwu.ac.za

Scarlett Cornelissen is Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Stellenbosch, South Africa. Contact details: sc3@sun.ac.za

Dion Chain holds a Masters in Tourism and Hospitality Management. He has been involved in the tourism industry for over eighteen years. His current area of interest is related to tourism development, research and consultancy. Contact details: dionchain@gmail.com

Freek Cronjé is Professor of Sociology, North-west University. He obtained his PhD in Sociology from the North-West University in 1991. He has been with the institution since then and is also the Director of the Centrum for Corporate Social Responsibility (CCSR). Most of his research is conducted under the ‘umbrella’ of Sustainable Development. His specific research interests are Migration Studies and Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in the mining sector - a significant part of this research in the mining sector is being done North of South Africa in the SADC region, e.g. in the DRC, Malawi and Zambia. Prof. Cronjé is currently the Vice-president of the South African Sociological Association (SASA). Contact details: Freek.Cronje@nwu.ac.za

John Hilton is Professor of Classics at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, Howard College, Durban, South Africa. He has taught at a number of other institutions, including Fort Hare University, Alice, South Africa (1976-1983). He was awarded his doctorate – a philological commentary on Books 3 and 4 of the Ethiopica of Heliodorus – by the University of Natal in 1998. His publications include Alma Parens Originalis: The Receptions of Classical Literature and Thought in Africa, Europe, The United States, and Cuba (2007); Apuleius: Rhetorical Works (2001), An Introduction to Latin 1-4 (1990-91), and numerous chapters and articles on various topics, including the reception of Roman Law in South Africa with particular reference to Slavery at the Cape of Good Hope, the ancient novel (especially Heliodorus), onomastics (the name Azania and the names given to the nations of Africa), Classical receptions studies, and computer applications in Classical philology. Forthcoming is A Commentary on Books 3 and 4 of Leucippe and Clitophon by Achilles Tatius. He is a past Chairperson of the Classical Association of South Africa, and is a member of the Advisory Boards of The Classical Receptions Journal, Acta Classica, and Nomina Africana. He has been reviews editor of the international classics journal Scholia and editor of the electronic reviews journal Scholia Reviews since 1991. Contact details: HILTON@ukzn.ac.za

Contributors

Jyoti Jaggernath is currently completing her PhD studies in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. She is also the research manager for the African Vision Research Institute (AVRI). Contact details: jyoti.avri@iceeafrica.co.za

Wolfgang Maennig is Professor in the Department of Economics at Hamburg University in Germany. Contact details: wolfgang.maennig@wiso.uni-hamburg.de

Ajiv Maharaj completed his PhD studies in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His research focused on developing an appropriate planning framework for the Durban Central Beachfront tourism locality. He is also a planner in the Economic Development Unit in the eThekweni Municipality, Durban. Contact details: maharajajiv@durban.gov.za

Fraser McKenna was an Honours student in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His honours research project examined business perceptions of accelerated urban development in the Durban beachfront area linked to the 2010 FIFA World Cup. Contact details: 206505168@ukzn.ac.za

Bert Olivier is Professor of Philosophy at the Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University in Port Elizabeth, South Africa. He holds an M.A. and D.Phil in Philosophy, has held Postdoctoral Fellowships in Philosophy at Yale University in the USA on more than one occasion, and has held a Research

Fellowship at The University of Wales, Cardiff. At NMMU he teaches various sub-disciplines of philosophy, as well as film studies, media and architectural theory, and psychoanalytic theory. He has published widely in the philosophy of culture, of art and architecture, of cinema, music and literature, as well as the philosophy of science, epistemology, psychoanalytic, social, media and discourse-theory. In 2004 he was awarded the Stals Prize for Philosophy by the South African Academy for Arts and Sciences, in 2005 he received the award of Top Researcher at UPE (now NMMU) for the period 1999 to 2004, and in 2006, 2008 and 2010 he received the award for Faculty Researcher of the Year in the NMMU-Faculty of Arts. In 2008 and 2009 he was also named Top Researcher at NMMU. Contact details: Bert.Olivier@nmmu.ac.za

Leon Pretorius is currently completing a full research Masters in the Discipline of Geography (School of Environmental Sciences) at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His dissertation examines the environmental issues related to the hosting of the 2010 FIFA World Cup in Durban. Contact details: 206517851@ukzn.ac.za

Johannes A. (Jannie) Smit is a graduate of the University of Durban-Westville (now UKZN), editor-in-chief of Alternation and served as research chair of the Humanities for some years. He has a lifelong commitment to interdisciplinary learning and critical research capacity development in Africa and currently serves as Academic Coordinator for Religion at UKZN. He teaches Comparative Religion (main focus Christianity), and supervises MA and PhD students in Religion and Social Transformation. Contact details: smitj@ukzn.ac.za

Kamilla Swart (PhD) is an Associate Professor in the Faculty of Business and heads the Centre for Tourism Research in Africa, Cape Peninsula University of Technology. Her research interests include sport and event tourism, with a specific focus on the 2010 FIFA World Cup™ and event policies, strategies and evaluations. She has published on varied topics relating to the bidding and impacts of sport tourism events in South Africa (Politikon, Urban Forum, The Sociological Review, amongst others). She was instrumental in developing the 2010 FIFA World Cup™ Research Agenda and served as the City of Cape Town's Research Coordinator for 2010. Contact details: swartk@cput.ac.za

Contributors

Tembi Tichaawa is a lecturer in tourism management in the School of Tourism and Hospitality Management: Department of Tourism, Walter Sisulu University in East London. He is currently studying towards a PhD in Geography with the University of KwaZulu-Natal, investigating the legacy impacts of the 2010 FIFA World Cup on the African continent. He holds a Masters Degree Cum Laude in Tourism and Hospitality Management at the Cape Peninsula University of Technology. Tembi has over 12 years of industry experience, having worked in several tourism organisations including academia. Contact details: ttichaawa@wsu.ac.za

Douglas Michele Turco (Ph.D.) is Associate Professor of Sport Management at Drexel University (Philadelphia, USA). His research centres on sport tourist consumer behaviours and impacts. Turco is also on faculty at the Rajiv Gandhi Indian Institute of Management, Shillong (India), IMC FH-Krems (Austria), National Taiwan Sport University, and Romanian American University. Contact details: douglas.turco@drexel.edu

David van Wyk obtained his Masters Degree in Southern African Literature and Language Studies at the former University of Durban-Westville. He also holds degrees from the University of Zimbabwe (B.A. Honours in Economic History) and the University of the Witwatersrand (B.A. Social Science). He is currently doing his PhD at the North West University, is a part time lecturer in Sociology and is a research associate at the North West Centre for Corporate Social Responsibility. He is also a lead researcher with the Bench Marks Foundation and has done extensive research on the corporate social responsibility impacts of the mining industry. Contact details: d.vanwyk58@gmail.com

Catherine Woerber lectures in English Studies on the Pietermaritzburg campus of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. She has a PhD in African Literature from the University of the Witwatersrand, and has published on black South African autobiographical and political writing, African modernity and the Black Atlantic. Contact details: woeberec@ukzn.ac.za