

Contributors

Lorena Brits is a senior lecturer in the Department of Financial Intelligence (postgraduate taxation) in the College of Accounting Sciences at the University of South Africa. Her research interests lie in the impact of technology-enhanced learning in distance education. She is a qualified Chartered Accountant. Contact details: britsl@unisa.ac.za.

Rajendra Chetty is Professor of Language Education at the University of the Western Cape. His areas of research are postcolonial writings; critical pedagogy; and race, class and marginalisation. His recent publications include At the Edge: The Writings of Ronnie Govender (2017); and Narrating the New Nation: South African Indian Writing (2018). Contact details: rchetty@uwc.ac.za

Ezra Chitando is a Professor in History and Phenomenology of Religion at the University of Zimbabwe and Theology, and Consultant on HIV and AIDS for the World Council of Churches. His research interests include religion and politics, gender, security, HIV and methodology. Contact details: Chitsa21!@yahoo.com

Bekithemba Dube is a lecturer at the University of the Free State, he is founding member and managing editor of the African Journal of education in Rural Contexts. He has published various articles in the area of religion, education and curriculum theory. He also coordinates an international society for scholars in rural contexts. Contact details: bekithembadube13@gmail.com; or dubeb@ufs.ac.za

Jean Veronica Fourie is a registered Educational Psychologist and lecturer at the University of Johannesburg in the Faculty of Education. She is involved in the training of Educational Psychologists; school counsellors and remedial teachers. Her research focuses on inclusive education and learning support. She has worked extensively within special needs education and consults on implementation issues surrounding inclusive education. She has presented at international and national conferences on supporting learners with diverse learning needs in both mainstream and special schools. Contact details: jeanf@uj.ac.za; Orcid qrcode 0000-0002-1367-0156

Sokfa F. John is an adjunct lecturer at Seth Mokitimi Methodist Seminary, Pietermaritzburg, and postdoctoral research fellow at the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics, University of KwaZulu-Natal, in Prof. J.A. Smit's African Digital Humanities project. His research interests include Religion and conflicts in Africa, Digital Humanities, digital social movements and cultures, and postcolonial/ decolonial theory. Contact details: sokfa.john@gmail.com

Siseko H. Kumalo is Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Decolonising Disciplines, a journal dedicated to decolonising disciplinary knowledge across faculties in higher education. His research focuses on epistemic justice, pedagogies of mutual (in)fallibility, feminist and queer theory, violence, Education for Sustainable Development and higher education transformation. He is Lead Researcher of #ThinkingAfrica under the Unsettling Paradigms Project (<http://www.up.ac.za/unsettlingparadigms>), which is an inter-institutional project co-ordinated by the University of Pretoria. He served on the Executive Committee of the Philosophical Society of Southern Africa and is a Mandela Rhodes Scholar (2017). Contact details: jdd@up.ac.za

Janet Jarvis serves on the Management Team in the School of Education, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. She is the Cluster Leader: Social Sciences Education and lectures in Life Orientation Education in both undergraduate and post-graduate programmes. She holds a Masters (cum laude) from Stellenbosch University and a Doctoral degree from North West University (Potchefstroom). Her research interest is teacher identity, Religion Education and gender equality. She has presented papers at both national and international conferences and has published several papers in this field. She is currently working collaboratively with colleagues in Norway and also at several South African Higher Education Institutions. She is a member of the following bodies: South African Universities Physical Education Association (SAUPEA); Human Rights in Education (HRiED); and ASRSA – Association for Religious Studies in South Africa (ASRSA). Contact details:

Contributors

jarvisj@ukzn.ac.za

Lucille Meyer is postdoctoral fellow at the University of the Western Cape. Her areas of research are youth development, narrative research and holistic approaches to personal transformation of youth who are not in employment, education or training. She is the Chief Executive Officer of the Chrysalis Academy. Contact details: 3880854@myuwc.ac.za

Tabitha Mukeredzi is a senior lecturer and research coordinator in the Adult, Community and Post Graduate Education Unit, School of Education, Indumiso Campus at the Durban University of Technology. Her research Interests are in Teacher Development, and Rural Education. She has published on teacher professional development and professional learning, teacher knowledge, rural education, and distance mixed mode delivery offerings. Contact details: TabithaM@dut.ac.za

Munyaradzi Felix Murove, is an Associate Professor in Applied Ethics in the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics – University of KwaZulu-Natal. He holds a doctorate in Economic Ethics from the University of South Africa. He teaches African Ethics, and Comparative Ethics. He has published many journal articles and book chapters on ethics. He edited the first anthology on African Ethics titled, African Ethics: An Anthology of Comparative and Applied Ethics, which was published by UKZN Press in 2009. He has also authored a book titled, African Moral Consciousness: An Inquiry into the Evolution of Perspectives and Prospects which was published by Austin Macauley in 2016. He has supervised successfully and continues to supervise many masters and doctoral students in Applied Ethics. Prof Murove's main area of specialization is African Ethics/ Applied African Ethics. Contact details: Murovem@ukzn.ac.za

Ncamisile P. Mthiyane is a lecturer in the Life Orientation Education Department in the School of Education at the University of KwaZulu-Natal. She lectures in both undergraduate and postgraduate classes. She also supervises Honours, Masters and PhD students in the Psychology of Education

Department. She graduated with her BA degree in Psychology and Communication at the University of South Africa (UNISA) and her Masters in Psychology of Education at the former University of Durban-Westville. In 2015 she graduated with her PhD in Educational Psychology at the University of the Free State. Her research interest areas include adolescents' contextual-based psychosocial issues, innovative and creative strategies in teaching and learning including participatory visual methods in higher education and career guidance and counselling in schools. She has presented her work at both national and international conferences. Contact details:

Mthiyanen1@ukzn.ac.za

Isaiah Adujo Negedu holds a Ph.D in Philosophy from Nnamdi Azikiwe University and Bachelor of Laws from the Kogi State University. He is currently a Post-Doctoral research fellow in the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics, University of Kwa-Zulu Natal. He also lectures in the Department of Philosophy, Federal University Lafia. His research interest is Race/ African Philosophy. Contact details: Negedul@ukzn.ac.za

Molebatsi Milton Nkoane is an Associate Professor in the department of Educational Psychology and Special needs at the University of Zululand. He has a strong research interests in praxis as an operationalisation of critical emancipatory grounded education, within post colonial and critical realist social discourses. He is the editor and co-editor of many academic and scientific journals. He has written extensively in the area of social justice and sustainable learning environments. Contact details: NkoaneM@unizulu.ac.za

Solomon Ojoka Ojomah holds a Ph.D in Social and Political Philosophy from the Nnamdi Azikiwe University and a Master of Science in Global Studies from VID Specialized University Norway. He currently teaches in the Department of Philosophy, Federal University Lafia. His research interest is in Intercultural and Political Philosophy. Contact details: sojomah@gmail.com

Bright Nkrumah is a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to the School of Social Sciences, University of KwaZulu Natal. He holds the degrees DPhil, MPhil (Pretoria) and BA(Hons) (Ghana). He previously served as a researcher at the Centre for Human Rights and the South African Human Rights Commission. His research interests include various topics in social movement, migration, constitutionalism, food security, foreign policy, peace and security, good governance, resistance, freedom, democratisation and climate change. Contact details: Bright.Nkrumah@ukzn.ac.za

Contributors

Auwais Rafudeen is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Religious Studies and Arabic, University of South Africa. He undertook both his undergraduate and postgraduate training in Religious Studies at the University of Cape Town, obtaining his Phd in 2000. He also studied Arabic through the University of South Africa and the University of the Western Cape. He has published on Islam in South Africa and has translated a number of classical and contemporary Arabic Islamic texts into English. He has also published on work of Talal Asad and has been involved in the editing and translation of selected texts by Shaykh Yusuf, to be published by the University of South Africa. Contact details: rafudma@unisa.ac.za

Mabatho Sedibe is a Senior Lecturer at the University of Johannesburg in the Faculty of Education. Her research focuses on Diversity in Teacher Education. She has presented several papers on issues of Diversity in Education. Contact details: mabathos@uj.ac.za

Doras Sibanda is a chemistry education lecturer at the University of KwaZulu-Natal in the school of Education. Her research interests are in teaching sequences in chemistry education, and in topic-specific pedagogical content knowledge (TSPCK) mentoring of science teachers and professional teacher development. Contact details: Sibandad@ukzn.ac.za

Kgothatso B Shai is the Head of the Department of Cultural and Political Studies at the University of Limpopo in South Africa. He holds a PhD in International Politics and MA in Political Science (cum laude) from the universities of Limpopo and Venda, respectively. His research interests cut across the subject of African politics and international relations. An Afrocentric scholar of note, Shai is also interested in the academic discourse about the politics of scholarship in Africa. Contact details: SKgothatso@yahoo.com

Johannes A. Smit (DLitt) is a graduate of the University of Durban-Westville (now University of KwaZulu-Natal), founding editor of the SAPSE journal Alternation and served as research chair of the Humanities for some years. He has a lifelong commitment to interdisciplinary learning and critical research capacity development in the Arts and Humanities. He is former Dean and Head of School of the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics, as well as of the School of Arts (Acting) at UKZN. He teaches Comparative Religion (main focus Christianity), and is the founder of the postgraduate Programme in Religion and Social Transformation in 2000. Contact details: smitj@ukzn.ac.za

Fallon Thompson is a registered Educational Psychologist in private practice who consults to schools regarding achieving learning potentials for all children. Her research focuses on systemic influences and dynamics promoting effective school functioning. Contact details: thompson.fallon@gmail.com

Theresa van Oordt is a senior lecturer in the Department of Taxation in the Faculty of Economic and Management Sciences at the University of Pretoria. Her main research interest is assessment in accounting education, specifically the impact of the assessment environment on the validity and reliability of assessment results. She is a qualified Chartered Accountant and have published 2 articles in accredited peer reviewed journals. She won a Laureate for Teaching Excellence and Innovation Award in 2014, which was awarded by the Vice Chancellor and Rector of the University of Pretoria. Contact details: theresa.vanoordt@up.ac.za